To Whom it May Concern,

KSS Architects has had the pleasure to work with Aurora Contractors on various projects over recent years. The relationship between KSS and Aurora is one that is built on transparency, teamwork, and collaboration, which is something that is a tremendous relief during the design phase for all parties involved. The qualities that Aurora brings to the table are unmatched.

Aurora and KSS are currently working on the 2505 Bruckner project, a 968,000sf multi-level last mile logistics center in the Bronx, NY. Aurora's ability to provide critical input during the 12 month pre-construction process was key to guiding the entire design team on this innovative project for not only general design, but logistics and constructability as well. The thoroughness that comes from the Aurora team during pre-construction through to construction is essential and has proven invaluable. Their attention to detail has helped progress this project beyond what was expected, and in turn, created a successful project for everyone involved including Ownership, the design team and into the field.

We would happily and certainly refer Aurora Contractors to any association and would willingly work with them on any future projects.

Please feel free to reach out if you would like to discuss further.

Sincerely,
